We will accept into our programs only those children for whom our services are appropriate. We will use professional means to determine the adequacy of our programs for each child.

We will make every effort to design and operate our facilities in a way that is most nurturing for children, with staff and program content giving priority to the welfare of the child.

We will provide a safe environment, free from maltreatment, exploitation, or abuse, which will enhance the educational, emotional, physical, social and spiritual growth of the children in our care.

We will respect children as individuals, and with the same inalienable rights which are guaranteed to all citizens of the United States. We will attempt to instill in them the sense of the responsibilities as well as the privileges of citizenship, and teach them to respect the rights of others.

We will respect the cultural heritage of each child and seek to enhance feelings of self worth and pride in the positive values of this heritage.

We value the family unit and acknowledge that each child in our care is part of a family system; therefore, we will work with the family to the extent which our resources allow, striving to strengthen and reunite the family when in the best interest of the client system.

We will be sensitive to and understanding of the trauma children experience during separation and placement, and will attempt to provide children in our care with a living situation which is as close to normal family and community life as possible.

We will be an advocate for children as we contribute our knowledge, skill, and influence to bring about development of adequate human welfare service delivery programs which will benefit children and families.

We will seek to employ staff whose knowledge, skills and compassion, when fully utilized can bring about stabilization in the life of each individual whom we serve. We will provide opportunity for further professional development of each staff member.

We will be responsible in the use of information gained in our relationships with children and their families.

We will continuously review and update our services for effectiveness and relevance.

We will be honest and open in the representation of our services.

The Reverend Harvey S. Murdoch, a Presbyterian minister from Brooklyn, New York, founded the Buckhorn School in 1902. The board and staff are guided by a strong belief that, as Christian people, we have an obligation to care for those among us who are most in need. Although the program has changed as the needs of children and families have changed, the agency’s commitment to serve children and the Appalachian area has remained constant.

Buckhorn Children & Family Services is accredited by the Council on Accreditation. The offices are located in Buckhorn, Kentucky. Buckhorn is a validated mission of the Presbyterian Church (USA) in the Synod of the Living Waters and the Synod of the Covenant. Support and prayers of all persons of faith are welcomed and mission groups are hosted from many faith communities throughout the year.

DCCH Center For Children and Families has been serving the needs of children and families throughout the Commonwealth of Kentucky since 1848. The Center is committed to provide a continuum of care for the children and families that are served.

Stabilization includes individual, group and family treatment, medication reviews and monitoring, close supervision and a safe therapeutic milieu case management and identification of community resources for support.

Therapeutic Foster Care and Adoption:

Therapeutic Foster Care provides children with emergency or temporary substitute family care while their own families are unable to care for them. This form of care is slightly different from foster care because the behavior and the needs of the children may be more challenging. As a result, we provide more training and supportive services to the families selected to be Therapeutic Foster Care parents.

The children in the program range in age from birth to 18, both boys and girls, and are residents of the Commonwealth of Kentucky. The average length of stay for a child is two years.

Children in Project Keepsafe receive safe, loving, therapeutic care, counseling, medical attention, and have liberal visitation with their parents. Appropriate childcare is a major obstacle for parents in a shelter seeking treatment for their addictions and/or mental illness, or needing hospitalization for physical health reasons. Due to the family dynamics involved, there often are not appropriate extended family members available to assist with childcare, and it is not a service shelter agencies can offer.

In 2000, Croney and Clark Inc. began providing IMPACT Plus services to children in Fayette County and the surrounding 16 counties. In 2009, Croney & Clark merged with KVC Behavioral HealthCare Inc., a Kansas-based company and is now doing business as KVC Behavioral HealthCare Kentucky. KVC Behavioral HealthCare Kentucky is a division of KVC Health Systems Inc., a private not-for-profit organization providing a continuum of medical and behavioral healthcare, education and social services to children and families. KVC Health Systems has established itself as a leading organization for human services across five states. KVC provides mental health services and educational opportunities in a setting that values dignity, respect, honesty and integrity. KVC delivers these innovative and effective services in a culturally sensitive manner, respectful of a child and family’s strengths and values.

KVC Kentucky uses the wraparound approach to services and facilitates connections to community resources. They subcontract with the Kentucky Department of Behavioral Health, Developmental and Intellectual Disabilities (DBHDID) and Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services to provide IMPACT Plus. IMPACT Plus is an intensive child-focused wraparound program that works to involve various community partners to improve a child’s well-being and reduce the risk of out of home placement or hospitalization.

KVC is a service provider for Preservation & Reunification Services in 8 regions across Kentucky. These services are a collaboration between DCBS and KVC Behavioral HealthCare Kentucky Inc., funded through the state of Kentucky and federal funding. Beginning in fiscal year 2012-2013, the Family Preservation Program and Diversion Services (fka Intensive In-Home Services/IIHS) were combined under one state contract. Preservation and reunification services are available to those children who are at risk of out-of-home placement or are reunifying to their long-term placement from foster care or a childcare institution.

KVC is also licensed to provide foster care in Kentucky, including emergency, respite, and therapeutic foster care homes. KVC is currently licensed in the Eastern Mountain, Northeastern, and Southern Bluegrass regions, although plans to expand the program and recruit resource/foster families to provide resource/foster families to provide homes in more regions across the state. KVC provides case management, advocacy, and support services to promote self-efficacy and daily independent living skills for children in care. KVC’s Child Placing Agencies provide ongoing support and training to families who are providing such a worthwhile service to children in need.

Founded in 1951 by the Sisters of Charity of Nazareth (SCN), Our Lady of Peace and its dedicated professional staff work to treat individuals and their families with an array of inpatient and outpatient services. Each day, Our Lady of Peace serves patients with emotional, behavioral and psychiatric disorders and chemical dependencies. Severely emotionally disturbed adolescents and children make up approximately 75% of their population. Nearly 90% of these youth are the victims of some kind of abuse or neglect. A number of patients also cope with physical and developmental disabilities such as brain injury, autism, mental retardation and fetal alcohol syndrome.

In 2009, Our Lady of Peace opened two nine-bed PRTF facilities dedicated to the care of young people suffering from a combination of psychiatric diagnoses as well as developmental disorders and/or neurological impairments. These facilities are the first of their kind in the Commonwealth dealing with this population using Applied Behavior Analysis.
Program Description: Psychiatric Residential Treatment Facilities (PRTFs) are designed to serve children with special needs who require long-term, intensive treatment and a more highly structured environment than they can receive in family, and other community-based alternatives to hospitalization. These two nine-bed facilities are less restrictive and more homelike than hospitals. The facilities also serve children who are transitioning from hospitals, but who are still not ready for the demands of living at home or in a foster home. The PRTFs are operated by Our Lady of Peace. Applied Behavior Analysis is the primary treatment modality.

Profile of Clients: Adolescents ages 12-17 with developmental disabilities and/or neurological impairments such as acquired brain injury, autism, mental retardation, and fetal alcohol syndrome that also have psychiatric diagnoses such as attention deficit disorder, bipolar disorder, and post traumatic stress disorder.

Most programs provide diagnostic services, individual, group and family counseling and aftercare. Sunrise’s continuum of care provides many opportunities for clients to transition to a lower level of care through a less-restrictive residential program, a foster home or to an independent living situation. Sunrise serves children Levels 1 through 5 referred by the Kentucky Department for Community-Based Services, clients served by the Department of Juvenile Justice and those privately referred by Kentucky courts or concerned citizens.

In 2007, Sunrise added PRTF programs and expanded its Impact Plus services to include Henderson and Danville.

A client services coordinator can recommend specific Sunrise programs, but most treatment programs include services for clients dealing with physical, sexual and emotional abuse; neglect; ADHD; pregnant/parenting; severely emotionally disturbed; psychotropic medication; public/juvenile/sexual/status offenders; eating disorder; runaway behaviors; depression; self-harming behavior; oppositional/defiant behavior and other disorders.

Sunrise works with community resources to provide substance abuse counseling and other specialized treatments that might not be available in our individual programs.

Sunrise Children’s Services is accredited by the Joint Commission and is licensed by the Kentucky Cabinet for Health and Family Services.
